

IT2022 YSE – GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1 SCOPE OF APPLICATION

- 1.1 These general terms and conditions shall apply to the sale and licensing of information technology products and to the supply of information technology services.

2 DEFINITIONS

- 2.1 Open Source Software means any software or software component which (a) is licensed subject to the open source licence terms and conditions listed at www.opensource.org/licenses; (b) fulfil the open source definition set out at www.opensource.org/docs/osd; or (c) is otherwise licensed subject to licence terms and conditions conforming to the criteria set out at www.opensource.org/docs/osd.
- 2.2 Service means the installation, maintenance, support, consultancy, training, software service or other service that constitutes the object of the agreement.
- 2.3 Deliverables mean the products and services that constitute the object of the agreement.
- 2.4 Product means the hardware, equipment, software, data system or other similar product that constitutes the object of the agreement and any instructions or other documentation related thereto.
- 2.5 Standard software means software or software component marketed or licensed to several customers and the instructions or other documentation and potential media related to the standard software in question.

3 DELIVERABLES AND TERMS AND CONDITIONS APPLICABLE THERETO

- 3.1 The parties shall define deliverables in writing.
- 3.2 The parties shall agree in writing as to whether the product includes open source software or standard software.
- 3.3 In case of discrepancy between these general terms and conditions and possible IT2022 special terms and conditions and the terms and conditions of the open source software that are part of the agreement, the terms and conditions of the open source software in question shall take precedence.
- 3.4 In case of discrepancy between these general terms and conditions and possible IT2022 special terms and conditions and the terms and conditions of the standard software that are part of the agreement, the terms and conditions of the standard software in question shall take precedence.

4 PRICES

- 4.1 The parties shall agree the prices, pricing principles and the adjustment of the prices for the deliverables in writing. To the extent the parties have not agreed otherwise in writing regarding the prices, pricing principles and the adjustment of the prices for the deliverables, the terms set out in sections 4.2 – 4.9 shall apply.
- 4.2 The currency to be used for prices and invoicing is the Euro.
- 4.3 If a price for a product or a service has not been agreed in the agreement or otherwise, the price in the supplier's price list effective on the date of order shall apply to the product or service in question.

- 4.4 If the price of a product or service is wholly or partly tied to specific price adjustment criteria, the price shall be adjusted in proportion to the change if the change is at least 2 percent. With respect to the specific price adjustment criteria the base value or quotation at the date of the signature of the agreement shall apply. With respect to prices tied to a currency exchange rate, these shall be determined using the mid-rate quoted by the European Central Bank at the date of delivery; save for products or services invoiced periodically, the price of which shall be determined using the mid-rate quoted by the European Central Bank at the date of invoicing.
- 4.5 The supplier shall be entitled to adjust the recurring charge of a product or service by notifying the customer of the change and of the reason of the change in writing at least 90 days before the effective date of the change. Where a price change occurs the customer shall be entitled to terminate the agreement for the product or service in question on the effective date of the price change by notifying the supplier thereof in writing at least 30 days before the effective date of the change. In that case the customer shall also be entitled to terminate the agreement simultaneously with respect to other products and services which, due to the above-mentioned termination, can no longer be essentially used for the benefit of the customer. The change shall not affect the charges for invoicing periods which have commenced before the effective date of the change.
- 4.6 The prices shall include all public charges determined by the authorities and effective on the date of signature of the agreement, with the exception of value added tax. Value added tax shall be added to the prices in accordance with the then current regulations. If the amount of public charges determined by the authorities or their collection basis change due to changes in the regulations or taxation practice, the prices shall be revised correspondingly.
- 4.7 The supplier shall be entitled to charge for customary and reasonable travel and accommodation costs as well as per diem allowances separately. The supplier shall also be entitled to charge, separately, fifty percent of the agreed hourly charge for time taken by a journey necessitated by the service and exceeding 60 kilometres back and forth. If the journey back and forth total not more than 60 kilometres, the travel time shall not be charged for. Other travel arrangements shall be agreed separately.
- 4.8 Pursuant to the agreed pricing principles, the supplier shall be entitled to charge, separately, for work that does not fall within the scope of deliverables but is ordered by the customer in writing. In addition, the supplier shall be entitled to charge extra fees in respect of such work pursuant to the agreed pricing principles if the customer makes a written order for work to be conducted outside the supplier's normal working hours.
- 4.9 Pursuant to the agreed pricing principles, the supplier shall be entitled to charge, separately, for additional costs incurred as a result of the provision of incorrect information by the customer or other similar reason for which the customer is responsible.

5 PAYMENT TERMS

- 5.1 The parties shall agree the payment instalments and payment terms in writing. To the extent the parties have not agreed otherwise in writing regarding the payment instalments and payment terms, the terms set out in sections 5.2 – 5.4 shall apply.
- 5.2 The supplier shall invoice for the products upon delivery and for the services following their performance. However, the supplier shall be entitled to invoice for recurring charges and other periodically invoiced charges in advance in accordance with intervals agreed in writing or, if the intervals have not been agreed in writing, monthly in advance. However, if the parties have agreed on acceptance procedure of the delivery or part of the delivery, the supplier shall invoice for time-based charges monthly in arrears and for other charges based on delivery following acceptance of such delivery or part of the delivery.

5.3 The payment term is 14 days net from the date of delivery or date of invoice, whichever is later.

5.4 Interest on delayed payments accrues in accordance with the Interest Act.

6 SUBCONTRACTING

6.1 Unless otherwise agreed in writing, either party shall have the right to subcontract its obligations under the agreement. Upon request by the other party, such party shall provide necessary information regarding its subcontractors that execute tasks related to the deliverables.

6.2 Each party shall ensure that its subcontractors comply with the requirements set out for the party. Each party shall be liable for the performance of its subcontractors as for its own performance.

6.3 Each party shall contribute to the cooperation between its subcontractors and the subcontractors of the other party where necessary for the tasks related to the deliverables.

7 CONFIDENTIALITY

7.1 Each party shall keep in confidence all material and information received from the other party and marked as confidential or which should be understood to be confidential, and may not use such material or information for any purposes other than those set out in the agreement. The confidentiality obligation shall, however, not apply to material or information, (a) which is generally available or otherwise public; (b) which the receiving party has received from a third party without any obligation of confidentiality; (c) which was in the possession of the receiving party prior to receipt of the same from the other party without any obligation of confidentiality related thereto; (d) which the receiving party has independently developed without using material or information received from the other party; or (e) which the receiving party is required to provide due to law or regulation by the authorities.

7.2 Each party shall promptly upon termination of the agreement or when the party no longer needs the material or information in question for the purpose set out in the agreement cease using confidential material and information received from the other party and upon request return or destroy the material including all copies thereof in a reliable manner. Each party shall, however, be entitled to retain such material as is required by law or regulation by the authorities.

7.3 Each party shall be entitled to use the professional skills and experience acquired in connection with the delivery.

7.4 The rights and responsibilities under this section 7 shall survive the termination, expiration or cancellation of the agreement. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, these rights and obligations shall expire after 5 years from the termination, expiration or cancellation of the agreement. The termination, expiration or cancellation of the agreement shall, however, not affect the rights and obligations related to this section 7, if applicable laws require a longer confidentiality obligation than the confidentiality period set out in this section 7.4.

8 DATA SECURITY AND BACKUP

8.1 Each party and its subcontractors shall comply with the measures agreed by the parties in writing and the legal requirements set out in applicable laws related to data security and backup requirements. To the extent the parties have not agreed otherwise in writing regarding data security and backup requirements, the terms set out in sections 8.2 – 8.4 shall apply.

8.2 Each party shall ensure that the part of the deliverables and the party's own environments, such as equipment, communications network, service production facilities and business premises, within that party's responsibility under the agreement, are protected against data security threats in accordance with the adequate data security procedures used by the party, and shall ensure that measures relating to data security and backup are complied with. Neither party is responsible for the data security of the general communications network or any disturbance in the general communications network.

- 8.3 A party shall notify the other party without undue delay of any significant data security risks and data security breaches, actual or suspected, detected by such party that pose a threat to the product or its use. A party shall, for its part, take immediate action in order to eliminate or reduce the effect of any data security breach. A party shall be responsible for contributing in the investigation of data security breaches.
- 8.4 Each party shall be responsible for making back-up copies of its data and data files and for verifying the functionality of such back-up copies.

9 PROCESSING OF PERSONAL DATA

- 9.1 If the supplier processes personal data on behalf of the customer, IT2022 EHK special terms and conditions on processing of personal data shall apply, unless otherwise agreed in writing.

10 FORCE MAJEURE

- 10.1 Neither party shall be liable for delay and damage caused by an impediment beyond the party's control and which the party could not have reasonably taken into account at the time of conclusion of the agreement and whose consequences the party could not reasonably have avoided or overcome. Such force majeure events shall include, if not proven otherwise, inter alia, war or insurrection, earthquake, flood or other similar natural catastrophe, interruptions in general traffic, data communication or supply of electricity, import or export embargo, strike, lockout, boycott or other similar industrial action. A strike, lockout, boycott and other similar industrial action shall also be considered, if not proven otherwise, a force majeure event when the party concerned is the target or a party to such an action.
- 10.2 A force majeure event suffered by a subcontractor of a party shall also be considered a force majeure event in relation to the party if the work to be performed under subcontracting cannot be done or acquired from another source without incurring unreasonable costs or significant loss of time.
- 10.3 Each party shall without delay inform the other party in writing of a force majeure event and the termination of the force majeure event.

11 INFRINGEMENT OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

- 11.1 The supplier warrants that the deliverables do not infringe third party intellectual property rights in the agreed country of delivery or use. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the agreed country of delivery and use shall be Finland.
- 11.2 The supplier shall at its own expense indemnify the customer against claims presented against the customer that a deliverable infringes third party intellectual property rights in the agreed country of delivery or use provided that the customer promptly notifies the supplier in writing of such presented claims and permits the supplier to defend or settle the claims on behalf to the customer and gives to the supplier, at the request of the supplier and at the supplier's expense, all necessary information and assistance available and the necessary authorisations. The supplier shall pay all damages awarded in a trial or agreed to be paid to a third party if the customer has acted in accordance with the foregoing.
- 11.3 If in the reasonable opinion of the supplier a deliverable infringes third party intellectual property rights in the agreed country of delivery or use or if such infringement has been confirmed in a trial, the supplier shall and may at its own expense and discretion either (a) obtain the right to continue use of the deliverable for the customer; (b) replace the deliverable with a product or service that complies with the agreement and corresponds to the deliverables; or (c) modify the deliverable in order to eliminate the infringement in such a manner that the modified deliverable complies with the agreement. If none of the above-mentioned alternatives is available to the supplier on reasonable terms, the customer shall, at the request of the supplier, stop using the deliverable and return it, and the supplier shall refund the price paid by the customer for the deliverable less the proportion of the price corresponding to the actual time of use.

- 11.4 The supplier shall, however, not be liable if the claim (a) is asserted by a company, which exercises control over the customer or which is controlled by the customer within the definition of control laid down in the Accounting Act; (b) results from alteration of the deliverable by the customer or from compliance with the customer's written instructions; (c) results from use of the deliverable in combination with any product or service not supplied or approved by the supplier; or (d) could have been avoided by the use of a released product or service that complies with the agreement and corresponds with the deliverables and which product or service is offered for use to the customer by the supplier without separate charge.
- 11.5 The supplier's liability for infringement of intellectual property rights in the deliverables shall be limited to this section 11.

12 DELAY AND CANCELLATION OF AGREEMENT

- 12.1 If a party finds that a delay will or is likely to occur, such party shall without delay inform the other party in writing of the delay and of the effects of the delay on the delivery time schedule.
- 12.2 If it becomes evident that fulfilment of the agreement will be delayed for more than 60 days due to a force majeure event, the party not subject to the force majeure event shall be entitled to cancel the agreement wholly or in part without either party having the right to claim damages.
- 12.3 If the delivery is delayed due to a reason attributable to a party and does not take place within a reasonable extension of time, such extension of time to be at least 30 days, set by the non-breaching party in writing, the non-breaching party shall be entitled to cancel the agreement with respect to the products and services whose delivery is delayed, provided that the delay is of a substantial importance to the non-breaching party and the delayed party knew or should have known this.
- 12.4 A party shall also be entitled to cancel the agreement wholly or in part if the other party is otherwise materially in breach of the terms of the agreement and the breach is of substantial importance to the non-breaching party. If the breach is capable of being remedied, the agreement may be cancelled only if the party in breach has not rectified its breach within a reasonable period of time set by the other party in writing, such period to be at least 30 days.
- 12.5 The supplier shall also be entitled to cancel the agreement wholly or in part if the customer has not paid a due and correct payment within 30 days of a written overdue payment reminder and the customer has not provided the supplier with an acceptable guarantee for the payment of the charges under the agreement.
- 12.6 A party shall be entitled to cancel the agreement wholly or in part prior to the date of its fulfilment if it becomes evident that the other party will commit a breach of the agreement justifying its cancellation. Such cancellation of the agreement shall, however, be invalid, if the other party either provides an acceptable guarantee for the fulfilment of the agreement or presents other reliable clarification of the fulfilment of the agreement promptly following receipt of the notice of cancellation.
- 12.7 If the customer cancels the agreement with respect to a product or service, the customer shall also have the right to cancel at the same time the agreements between the parties with respect to other products and services which relate to the same delivery entity and which due to the above-mentioned cancellation can no longer be used essentially for the benefit of the customer.
- 12.8 In order for the cancellation to be valid, the party cancelling the agreement must inform the other party thereof in writing.
- 12.9 If a party shall be entitled to cancel the agreement, the party shall also have the right suspend its performance by giving written notice to the other party. The right of the party to suspend its performance ends, if the other party either provides an acceptable guarantee for the fulfilment of the agreement or presents other reliable clarification of the fulfilment of the agreement promptly following receipt of the notice of suspension.

13 LIABILITY FOR DAMAGES AND LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

- 13.1 The parties shall agree liability for damages and limitation of such liability in writing. To the extent the parties have not agreed otherwise in writing regarding liability for damages and limitation of liability, the terms set out in sections 13.2 – 13.5 shall apply.
- 13.2 The maximum liability for damages of a party towards the other party based on the agreement shall not, excluding possible liquidated damages payable due to delay, service credits or other similar contractual penalties or credits, exceed in aggregate 40 percent of the total price for the deliverables excluding value added tax. However, where solely a fixed term product or service provided against a recurring charge or solely a product or service agreed until further notice and provided against a recurring charge is concerned, the maximum liability for damages shall not, excluding possible liquidated damages payable due to delay, service credits or other similar contractual penalties or credits, exceed in aggregate the calculatory monthly price for the product or service at the point of breach of contract, excluding value added tax, multiplied by 6. If the breaching party has an obligation to pay liquidated damages payable due to delay, service credits or other similar contractual penalties or credits, the breaching party is also liable to pay damages only for the part of the loss exceeding the liquidated damages payable due to delay, service credits or other similar contractual penalties or credits.
- 13.3 Neither party shall be liable for any indirect or consequential damage. Indirect or consequential damage shall mean, inter alia, loss of profits or damage caused due to decrease or interruption in turnover or production.
- 13.4 Neither party shall be liable for the destruction, loss or alteration of the other party's data or data files, nor for any damages and expenses incurred as a result, including expenses involved in the reconstitution of data files. This section 13.4 shall not apply, if a party's obligations under the agreement comprise taking back-up copies of the other party's data or data files or managing the other party's data security and that party has not fulfilled this duty.
- 13.5 The limitations of liability shall not apply to liability under sections 7 and 11 or damages caused by (a) the transfer, copying or use of deliverables contrary to law or the terms and conditions of the agreement; (b) breach of section 15.1; or (c) wilful conduct or gross negligence.

14 APPLICABLE LAW AND SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

- 14.1 The agreement shall be governed by the laws of Finland.
- 14.2 Any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of or relating to the agreement, or the breach, termination or validity thereof shall be finally settled by arbitration in accordance with the Arbitration Rules of the Finland Chamber of Commerce. A dispute shall be resolved by a sole arbitrator. Notwithstanding the preceding sentences, claims for non-payment of monetary charges may be resolved in the district court of the respondent's place of domicile if the respondent does not contest its payment obligation.
- 14.3 If the parties so agree in writing, any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of the agreement shall be resolved in the district court.

15 EXPORT RESTRICTIONS

- 15.1 The customer agrees to comply with the laws and regulations laid down by the authorities of Finland and with such laws and regulations laid down by the authorities of the country of origin of the product as are notified to the customer by the supplier and are applicable to the export of products and technical information from Finland. The customer also agrees not to provide any products or technical information to a third party if doing so would violate the laws or regulations laid down by the authorities of Finland or such laws or regulations laid down by the authorities of the country of origin of the product as are notified to the customer by the supplier.

16 ASSIGNMENT AND AMENDMENTS OF THE AGREEMENT

- 16.1 Neither party may assign the agreement, either wholly or in part, without the written consent of the other party. Such consent shall not be unreasonably withheld if the assignee undertakes in writing to comply with the terms and conditions of the agreement and the assignment is to a company belonging, according to the Accounting Act, to the same group of companies as the party, or is made in connection with the transfer of business operations.
- 16.2 The supplier shall, however, be entitled to assign its receivables under this agreement to a third party by notifying the customer of the assignment in writing.
- 16.3 All changes and amendments to the agreement shall be agreed in writing in order to be valid.
